

Module: Financial Management

Module: Project Management

Module II Financial Management	Page No.
Chapter 1: Introduction to Accounting	1
(A) Introduction	1
(B) Definition of Accounting-Accounting as an Information System	2
(C) External and Internal Users of the Accounting Information	7
(D) Accounting Systems	7
(E) The Traditional Versus New Approach to Learning of Accounting	10
(F) The Accounting Statements	16
(G) Application of Single Rule of Debit & Credit (AID) to 7-Transactions Model	18
(H) Journal-The Prime Book of Accounting Records	22
(I) Ledger-The Classified Posting of Every Journal Entry	24
(J) The Flow Diagram from Transaction to Balance Sheet	32
(K) Recording of Events or Adjustment Entries	36
(L) Profit & Loss Account	40
(M) Balance Sheet	42
(N) Preparation of Final Accounts	43
(O) Review Questions	54
Chapter 2: Indian Financial System	61
(A) Introduction	61
(B) Constituents of the Indian Financial System	62
(C) Macro Economic Variables and the role of the financial system	70
(D) Some important macro variable ratios indicating the state of the financial system	79
(E) Review Questions	81
Chapter 3: Analysis Of financial Statements	82
(A) Introduction	82
(B) Uses of the Ratio Analysis	84
(C) Conversion of 'T' form Financial Statements to the vertical form	86
(D) Functional Classification	91
(E) Du Pont Chart	100
(F) Debt Service Coverage Ratio (DSCR)	107
(H) Limitations of the Ratio Analysis	109
(I) Illustrations	111

	(J) Review Questions	123
Chapter 4:	Fixed Assets and Depreciation accounting	134
	(A) Introduction	134
	(B) Definition and characteristics of fixed assets	135
	(C) Importance of management of fixed assets	137
	(D) Implications of the cost concept and financial accounting treatment of depreciation	138
	(E) Various concepts of depreciation	143
	(F) Depreciation – Allocation V/s Valuation process	146
	(G) Methods of depreciation	147
	(H) Cash Flow Implications of depreciation	153
	(I) Taxation and depreciation accounting	158
	(J) Accounting standards for depreciation	165
	(K) Review Questions	171
Chapter 5:	Working Capital Management and Operating Cycle	175
	(A) Introduction	175
	(B) Definition and characteristics of working capital	176
	(C) Importance of working capital management	179
	(D) Factors affecting the investments in the working capital	180
	(E) Estimation of working capital needs	182
	(F) Working capital management policies	182
	(G) Operating cycle of working capital	186
	(H) Review Questions	191
Chapter 6:	Management of Working Capital Components	195
	(A) Introduction	195
	(B) Management of Inventories	198
	(C) Management of Debtors	205
	(D) Management of Cash and Liquidity	214
	(E) Review Questions	222
Chapter 7:	Introduction to Cost Accounting and Job, Process and Batch Costing	230
	(A) Introduction	230
	(B) Definitions	231
	(C) Financial accounting and cost accounting	234
	(D) Elements of costs	235
	(E) Classification of overheads	236
	(F) Cost Sheet	237
	(G) Process Costing, Job Costing and Batch Costing	244
	(H) Uses of the cost accounting	249

(I) Review Questions	250
Chapter 8: Standard Costing and Variance Analysis	254
(A) Introduction	254
(B) Definition of standard costing	255
(C) Requirements for a good standard costing system	256
(D) Variances and variance analysis	257
(E) Sales Variances	262
(F) Reasons for the variances	267
(G) Advantages and disadvantages of standard costing	269
(H) Illustrations	270
(I) Review Questions	274
Chapter 9: Marginal Costing and Break-Even Analysis	277
(A) Introduction	277
(B) Meaning of Marginal Cost and Marginal Costing	278
(C) Distinction between Marginal Costing and Full Costing	279
(D) Break-Even Analysis-Meaning and Importance	281
(E) Formulas of Break-Even Analysis	284
(F) Graphic presentation of Break-Even Analysis	288
(G) Uses of Break-Even Analysis in Managerial Decision- Making	289
(H) Assumptions (or Limitations) of Break-Even Analysis	290
(I) Illustrations	291
(J) Review Questions	302
Chapter 10: Introduction to Financial Management	307
(A) Introduction	307
(B) Definition of Financial Management	308
(C) Objective of Financial Management	310
(D) Three Basic Decision Areas of Financial Management	312
(E) Scope of Financial Management – Five A's	313
(F) Organization of Finance Function	316
(G) Challenging role of Financial Manager in the Liberalized Economy	317
(H) Review Questions	320
Chapter 11: Capital Structure Decisions and Financial Leverage (Debt-Equity Mix) Analysis	321
(A) Meaning and Significance of Capital Structure	321

(B)	Optimum Capital Structure	323
(C)	EBIT-EPS Relationship	327
(D)	Leverage Analysis	331
(E)	Review Questions	345
Chapter 12:	Sources of Long-Term Funds and Methods of Raising Long-Term funds	347
(A)	Introduction	347
(B)	Various Sources of Long Term Funds	347
(C)	Methods of Raising Long Term Funds	356
(D)	Special issues in managing long term sources of funds	363
(E)	Review Questions	377
Chapter 13:	Cost of Capital and Project Evaluation Methods	378
(A)	Meaning and Significance of Cost of Capital	378
(B)	Specific costs of different Funds	382
(C)	Weighted Average Cost of Capital (WACOC)	393
(D)	Project Evaluation Methods	405
(E)	Review Questions	421
Chapter 14:	Securitization of Assets	427
(A)	Introduction	427
(B)	Parties to the Securitization Transaction	427
(C)	The Process of Securitization	429
(D)	Benefits of Securitization	431
(E)	Obstacles of Securitization in India	431
(F)	Suggestions for popularizing Securitization in India	432
(G)	Review Questions	434
Chapter 15:	Lease Financing	435
(A)	Meaning and Importance	435
(B)	Salient Features of lease financing	436
(C)	Types of lease financing	437
(D)	Evaluation of lease financing from lessee's viewpoint	440
(E)	Comparative analysis of acquisition of fixed assets under leasing v/s ownership through bank borrowings	443
(F)	Review Questions	447
Chapter 16:	Introduction to International Financial Management	448
(A)	Introduction	448
(B)	Foreign Exchange Quotes	449

(C) History of the Foreign Exchange Rate	450
(D) International Foreign Exchange Markets Quotes Rates	453
(E) Exchange Rate Parity Relationships	456
(F) Foreign Exchange Exposure	462
(G) Foreign Exchange Risk Management Methods	468
(H) Review Questions	475